The first time exhibited in North America, new work from Spain-based painter Charles Malinsky's "The Journey - El Ultimo Viaje ". These meticulously painted canvases are in Malinsky's trademark black and white palette, evoking the film noir age with the theatrical settings of a train station and attire worn by the characters. The paintings depict people travelling by train, embracing in reunion or goodbye and passing each other on their way.

Charles Malinsky was born in Yorkton, Saskatchewan in 1956 and graduated from the Alberta College of Art and Design in 1978. After 20 years in Calgary, Charles moved to Madrid, Spain in order to be closer to the European art world that had embraced him since his 1998 European debut in Germany. Since then, Charles Malinsky has exhibited throughout Spain, Germany, Belgium, Luxembourg, London, West Hollywood, New York City, as well as Victoria, BC and Calgary. Charles Malinsky's work is widely collected internationally and most recently the Fundació de les Arts i els Artistes in Barcelona acquired works from this new series.
